Information for manufacturers

Manufacturers who want to apply to use the UIAA logo can read about the requirements in the following documents. Owing to copyright restrictions, the UIAA standards texts do not state the requirements of the EN standards, to which they refer. The pictorial versions however give an overview of the main requirements and test methods, including the EN requirements. For details, both the full version UIAA standard text and the EN standard should be consulted. UIAA standards are available as free downloads from the table below (Acrobat Reader version 5 or higher required). European standards can be purchased from the national standards institutions, via the CEN on-line catalogue.

If you would like to apply to use the UIAA safety logo, please read the relevant listed documents and complete the application form as explained.
